NEARING THE POINT

IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

A Compromise May Be Made to Enable Russia to Avoid an Indemnity by the Surrender of Sakhalien and all Manchuria Privileges.

Portsmouth, Aug. 18.—With the gradual elimination of the lesser grounds of dispute the plenipotentiaries are nearing the two principal points at issue, the cession of Sakhalien island and the payment of the war indemnity. There appears some prospect that these will be finally settled by the Russians agreeing to surrender Sakhalien on condition that Japan will not demand an indemnity, taking instead the interned warships and all Russian rights and property in Manchuria. Only a compromise of this nature would make peace possible.

NOTES FROM THE CAPITAL.

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—The Royal Trust Co., administrators of the estate of the late F. X. Jacques, are asking a writ to cover twenty thousand dollars with interest against Messrs. Mulligan, of the Russell House. They also ask to have the Mulligans restrained from carrying on business and for the appointment of a receiver.

It is announced here that the Governor-General will attend the inaugural ceremonies of both the new Provinces and afterwards spend six weeks in Manitoba and the Northwest, not going to British Columbia this season.

Mr. Boies, a fruit packing expert from British Columbia, is leaving Vernon, B.C., to give demonstrations of California methods in Eastern Canada for packing.

PORTS TO PROTECT VANCOUVER

Ottawa, August 16.—One of the development of the Canadian defence policy in the early future will in all probability be the erection of strong forts on either side of Burrard Inlet, to protect Vancouver as an important shipping centre and the western terminus of the C. P. R. The British Admiralty has recommended this step as necessary to the safeguarding the port and the growth of Pacific coast interests, forcing the subject on the government's attention.

Acting upon its determination to provide as far as possible for our own protection from foreign aggression, the Canadian government will follow up the erection of its new batteries below Quebec by building a fort commanding the entrance to the Great Lakes at Kingston. In doing so Sir Frederick Borden and his colleagues are acting upon the recommendation of a committee of distinguished imperial officers who made the examination of the defence problem in Canada eight years ago.

After considering the advisability of planting a fort in the harbor of St. John, N.B., the military authorities have definitely concluded to postpone that enterprise for the present. The growing value of the shipping of St. John is fully recognized, but the report has been made to the Minister of Militia that other points are even more pressing in strategic consequence. The St. John project accordingly, without being in any sense finally abandoned, stands over for the present.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE

The reception committee of the Inaugural celebration met last night in the council chamber, and completed part of the arrangements for the first of September. They decided to engage twenty-five or thirty rigs to drive the city's guests from and to the trains and about the city and country as they might wish. Accommodation for the visitors is quite a difficult problem. The committee decided to engage ten rooms at the Alberta and ten at the Queens which they had the privilege of doing. A committee consisting of Messrs. Mercer, Kennedy and Fisher was appointed to visit other hotels and secure further accommodation.

It was decided to engage twenty-five rooms at the Alberta College and if possible secure one or two large rooms there for reception rooms, making that the headquarters of the reception committee.

The question of a luncheon to the city's distinguished guests at the exhibition park was deferred until the meeting on Saturday evening. An inquiry might be made as to the possibility of getting it properly arranged for. A committee consisting of Messrs. Mowat, Strathy and Dr. Wilson was appointed to make the necessary inquiries and report Saturday evening. The Chairman, J. A. McDougall and Mayor MacKenzie were appointed to arrange for reception rooms at the Alberta College. The committee meet again tomorrow evening.

Arrangements were made to furnish the city's guests with meal tickets good at any hotel in the city to be redeemed by the committee after the celebration.

LAW TAKES ITS COURSE.

Sheriff Robertson is in receipt of a telegram from the Department of the Secretary of State at Ottawa that the Governor-General in council has decided that the law must take its course in the execution of Charles King for the murder of Edward Hayward, on August 1st.

The gallows has been erected and tested and everything is now in readiness for the gruesome task of carrying out the demands of the law.

Official hangman Rodcliffe has communicated with the Sheriff and stated that he would be on hand for the date arranged.

The condemned man has given up all hope of any further reprieve and is preparing to meet the doom that awaits him on the last day of this month. He shows signs of feeling very distressed.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

The Conservative convention at Red Deer completed its work last evening. A number of the delegates from this city returned on yesterday's afternoon train. Mr. Griesbach, who was a delegate, informed the Bulletin that it was decided to make the provincial contest a party fight and that the selection of a leader was left to the Conservative members who would be elected to the new legislature. A despatch this morning says that R. B. Bennett was elected leader, but this may be a mistake or may have happened after Mr. Griesbach left.

A partial list of the officers elected is as follows: President, W. L. Walsh of Calgary; vice presidents, J. W. Shera, M.L.A., and O. Bush. Two others were elected whose names he did not get. Secretary, — Shaw, of Calgary. One member was elected on the executive committee from each provincial constituency. Those in this vicinity were: Edmonton, W. A. Griesbach; Strathcona, F. C. Jamieson; Fort Saskatchewan, J. A. Moran, and Stony Plains, H. Christman. There were about 115 delegates present.

BULYEA COMMENDED

FOR HIS DIFFICULT COURSE.

Rumor That Saskatchewan Conservatives Will Support Haultain Regardless of Party.

Regina, Aug. 18.—The Liberal convention closed here today after passing a resolution commending the self-sacrificing part played by the Hon. H. V. Bulyea throughout the autonomy negotiations. Rumors are current to the effect that Saskatchewan Conservatives will come out on a platform of support to Mr. Haultain without admitting party lines.

SOMEBODY BLUNDERED

The Calgary Herald announces that a car load of grain exhibits will go from Alberta to the Toronto exhibition, as follows:

"The C.P.R. has placed a baggage car at the disposal of Alberta for the display of cereals, and especially fall wheat at the Toronto exhibition. The Edmonton district will have one half the car, and the Calgary district the balance. The car leaves Calgary next Wednesday, therefore those who have good samples of grain they would like to see sent down east, should communicate with Secretary Peterson of the Board of Trade at once. This concession of the railroad company means much to Alberta, and will supply the best possible form of advertising."

This is the first intimation one in Edmonton has had of this arrangement. Secretary Fisher of the Board of Trade has been in communication with the C. P. R. for transportation for an exhibit, but has had no reply except that the matter was receiving consideration.

This car leaves Calgary next Wednesday, which gives very little time to prepare an exhibit, and but for this item in the Herald, Edmonton would probably have had no notice in time to arrange for any exhibit whatever.

The Secretary of the board of trade wired this morning for information about the matter. This is another of the accidents by which Edmonton gets the worst of it.

THE CROP

There is now no doubt that there is going to be a record crop in the West. Things might happen in some sections yet to lessen the yield, but the chances are that the harvest will be a great one. What is true of the West in general is also true of the Edmonton district in particular. From every section of country around here the same report comes. The yield of grain is going to be an excellent one.

The more thickly settled this country becomes the more certain the crop conditions will be, and, with the railway facilities this district will have in the immediate future, the tide of immigration is certain to be directed this way and with the soil all under cultivation this district will become one of the richest and most productive agricultural districts on the continent.

The soil is unrivalled for richness and productive qualities. Climate conditions are good, and with settlement dangers of frost will disappear entirely; the country is an ideal one to live in, and the young man who purchases a half section here now at the very reasonable price at which it can be bought will find himself at middle age the possessor of property the value of which will enable him to enjoy the comforts, yes, the luxuries, of life, for the remainder of his days.

A DISPLAY OF FARM PRODUCTS

The Bulletin is desirous of making a window display of Alberta farm products for Inauguration Day, September 1st, and will be greatly obliged if friends throughout the country will send or bring to the office samples of grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables grown during the present season. There will be thousands of visitors in Edmonton on Inauguration Day and the opportunity should not be lost to display upon them the capabilities of Alberta. For a decade the Bulletin has been telling the world about the qualities of Alberta's soil and climate. We would like now to demonstrate in this practical way that our claims have been justified. Samples brought in will be labelled with the name and address of the producer, will be taken care of and returned if so desired. The season will be sufficiently advanced to make possible a display of ripe grains, grasses, fruits and vegetables of all kinds, native and cultivated and we rely upon our friends to co-operate in making this, exhibit thoroughly worthy the occasion and representative of the agricultural resources and progressive farmers of the district.

PROPOSED POLO GAMES

Editor Bulletin:
Dear Sir,—We were lately informed by "Polo Player" that polo is the king of sports, though not played with a pot of tea, cake, and a good deal of rest.

Well, whatever some polo players may be, it distresses us to know what deplorably unsportsmanlike methods the polo players possess in this vicinity. All of us are aware that there is to be a polo tournament on September 1, in conjunction with the inaugural celebration, and that a sum of money ($200) has been set aside by the sports committee towards their expenses. The players, however, not satisfied with this, have already encroached over our cricket grounds; both the match and practice pitches having been ridden over regardless of the damage which is being done.

We shall soon have no ground to this upon at all. We possess no guarantee against such damage, and it is in hope of obtaining some redress that we write. We spent $35 last May towards the levelling of our present practice pitch, besides time and money bestowed upon improvements to the match ground.

We have further a membership (including juniors) of close upon a hundred, and it seems hardly just that a considerable majority should give way to a minority. Matches have been arranged to take place on the fair grounds until the middle of October—the Ochsner Cup, for one thing has given a great impetus to cricket in these parts, and it is natural that we should endeavor to provide our opponents with at least as level pitches as those which they provide us with. We recognize the courtesy which has been shown to us by the exhibition authorities this season and we understand that the use of these grounds by the polo players was only intended to apply to September 1. It seems that unless the polo players are willing to come to some agreement with or provide compensation to the cricket club for their unsportsmanlike attitude and action the number of those "who prefer ping pong to a dashing dare-devil play" will multiply, much to the discomfort of "Polo Player."

Yours truly on behalf of the cricket club,

E. SLOCOCK, Secretary.

THE SABBATH

(Contributed)

When, where, and by whom was the Sabbath changed from the seventh to the first day of the week, is a question that is agitating many minds at the present time. When we look to the Bible, we find that it is silent as to any change of days, authorized by God, or practiced by the Apostles. But we do find that Paul looked forward to a time of apostasy to follow his death, in which professedly Christian people would, "Depart from the faith" 1 Tim. 4:1. Acts 20:28-30. Various reasons for this apostasy, one was, the hatred between the Jews and the Gentiles, the Jews called the Gentiles dogs, Matt. 15:21-28. The Gentile nation had long observed the first day of the week in honor of the sun, which they worshipped. Therefore, when the gentile converts became more numerous, they refused to observe the Sabbath, but kept the Sunday instead.

In A.D. 321, Constantine made his famous Sunday edict, which was the first legal obligation, we can find for observing the first day of the week, in A.D. 384, the council of Laodicea decreed that Christians should work on the Sabbath and rest on the first day. But when the Saturday Sabbath kept gaining grounds, it was made a fast day by the Roman church, and as men ordinarily prefer a feast to a fast, the Sunday festival came more and more into favor. While the seventh day was gradually put aside by the mass of the people. But this is not to be wondered at, when we stop to think that in these days the Bible was not in the hands of common people, and indeed would have done but little good if it had been, as so few could read it. But as the historians tell us, it was by the decrees and councils, and officers of the state and church, rather than by any Divine command that the Sabbath was set aside, and the first day adopted. Indeed there never was any pretence of Divine authority for Sunday keeping until about 1595 A.D., when Dr. Bound issued a book teaching that the law of the Sabbath applied to the first day. Dr. Heylyn well sums up the arguments when he says:—"Take which you will, either the Fathers or the moderns and we shall find no Lords day instituted by any Apostolic mandate; no Sabbath set on foot by them upon the first day of the week."

EDMONTON AND HER
RIVALS

(Correspondence Winnipeg Free Press)

Edmonton, Aug. 9.—An Aberdeen very proud of his native city Aberdeen, with its buildings and streets of enduring, sparkling granite, got into a very warm argument one day with a stranger, who actually doubted what Sandy had been saying regarding the claims of the Granite city. It was Aberdeen against the world. In a fine burst of indignation, he floored his opponent with these withering remarks, "now, ma, freen, ye can tak Aberdeen and twal miles round and what hae ye left? Nothing, ma freen, nothing." (It is a good thing for a community to have a good deep sense of that which led the old highland woman to offer that fervent petition, "The Lordgie us a gantle conceit o' ourselves.") This is very much better than praying "to bring confusion upon to Mac-Tonnals and dinna spair."

One is no time in the west before being made aware of the intense rivalry that frequently exists between communities. For instance the feeling just now between Calgary and Edmonton is decidedly fierce. This feeling has been accentuated because of Edmonton's success in pulling the temporary capital, nor has Calgary's feeling been modified any by the Hon. Frank Oliver's elevation to the portfolio of the Interior. It is simply lamentable to see every good thing all the plums going north. As an instance of how unfair and perverse this feeling can be, I relate the following: Two gentlemen, both well informed, at breakfast in the hotel the other morning, were discussing the outlook for Edmonton and the effect the coming in of the railways would have upon the trade and commerce of the city. The contention of one was that with the railway the great trade that Edmonton now enjoys from the north would be cut off. Indeed, he was prepared to place his finger at a point twenty miles further north. Just wait a bit and they would soon see Edmonton looking like a dirty dune. And he smiled sarcastically as he reflected over the pleasure this job at Edmonton's solar plexus would be to him.

The other with unanswerable argument, clinched point after point making it clear that Edmonton's position was assured. Edmonton would before long be that converging point of three great railways. In itself this is convincing enough, even if for the nonce one forgets the city bravely maintaining its position all through these years, yet flourishing in spite of the handicap its severance from the main arteries of commerce brought upon it. A community with an invincible spirit like this cannot be permanently deprived of recognition for all the strong elements of character it imparts. He that wrestles with us, strengthens our nerves and sharpens our skill. Our antagonist is our helper." The gentleman, who had been so warmly discounting Edmonton's claims was hopelessly routed, although in no way perturbed from the dining room to a seat in the rotunda, where he pulled out a cigar. I concluded it must have been a good one, for a broad smile shone on his face and as he watched the curling smoke ascending the smile deepened until little dimples formed in his well rounded cheeks. With suppressed glees he said at last: "I know that I am prejudiced against this place; it's mighty hard for me to admit anything good about Edmonton." This he said in a good natured aside to me, so that I am half afraid his confession would not be fruitful of good works unto repentance.

This evil of southern Alberta decrying central Alberta and the central district retreating in kind is an excellent way of bedeviling the whole country. I have heard our immigration officials complain very bitterly of the damning effects of such egregious folly. The work of settlement has been injured as much by this as by any other cause. It would be a subject for deep thankfulness if by common consent the little hammer could be dropped. Knowing is poor business any way. A good maxim is "if you cannot boast, don't knock." Edmonton is now preparing for the inaugural on Sept. 1. It will be a gala day. The city will do herself proud. Invitations embracing almost every dignitary in the Dominion have been issued. The Governor-General and Sir Wilfrid Laurier are expected to be the leading figures. Large bodies of the R.N.W.M.F. and other military bodies will take part. Committees have been appointed and made responsible for the proper carrying out of a very ambitious programme. A special grant has gone through council that has the hearty endorsement of the citizens, making it possible for the city to treat with becoming hospitality the visitors who will be the city's guests while here.

Fine wide concrete walks are now being laid on Jasper avenue. The work is being rushed so that all the obstructions incidental to the laying down of concrete will be removed before the crowds arrive. A week of ideal ripening weather has just closed. Those coming in from the fields bring glad tidings. This district up to quite recently had been having continuous rains until grave fears of a superabundance began to be generally entertained. This fine weather is just what was so anxiously desired and I have just been informed by one who has his finger on the public pulse, that business in response to the improved outlook is already showing marked betterment. In this district as far as I can learn, "hope, the charmer," is not lingering behind.

ATTENTION, VETERANS

The Imperial Service Medal Association of Alberta has been assigned a place in the Inaugural Parade which takes place at Edmonton on September 1st. It is desired that as large an attendance as possible of members will be present on that occasion. Every man who possesses a medal is asked to join the parade, and signify his intention by communicating with the Hon. Sec., Will Godson, Strathcona, giving the name of his regiment and his service. As it will add greatly to the appearance of the parade, it is requested that as many men as possible take part mounted and in uniform. It is further asked that those who can come on horseback will please inform the secretary. This Association was formed about ten weeks ago and already numbers over one hundred members. The Indian Mutiny, the Fenian Raid, Indian Frontier, the Wolseley Expedition, the Nile Expedition, North West Rebellion, Matabele and Boer Wars, and many other medals are represented in the Association. The officers of the Association would like to see every man who has served in the army or navy and who holds an active service medal for same, join the Association. They take this opportunity of asking all such to communicate with Will Godson, Hon. Sec., Strathcona, who will be glad to furnish any information regarding the Association.

Inaugural
Celebration

Citizens who have one or more rooms which they could place at the disposal of the committee, for the accommodation of visitors to the city on August 31st and September 1st, will confer a favor, and add to the success of the celebration, if they will communicate with the undersigned, making known the number of rooms, and the price expected.

TYPHOID FEVER

AGAIN THREATENS WINNIPEG.

Seventy-Three Cases Have Been Reported Already During the Present Month.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10.—At a meeting of the civic health committee last night it was announced that since August 1st, seventy-three cases of typhoid fever had been reported at the city hall office. Forty-five of the patients are residents of Winnipeg. From August 1st to 16th last year ninety cases were reported to the authorities. Dr. Douglas stated that most of the fever cases had arisen in houses that were not modern and that there were only four cases south of Notre Dame avenue. This announcement has created considerable alarm in the city, many citizens fearing an epidemic as virulent as that of last fall.

MILL MEN CUT PRICES

Vancouver, Aug. 16.—The selling pool organized at Calgary two months ago by the lumber mills in the upper country is said to be hopelessly disrupted for a mercy war is going on between the "mountain" combine and the coast mills.

The Vancouver mills have been carrying the war into the enemy's camp to the extent of cutting prices, and the upcountry mills will have to watch affairs very closely if they keep very much of a share of the lumber trade of the North West.

It was at a meeting of the upcountry interests at Calgary early in the summer that the organization was completed, the purpose being to control the prices of the market sections of the North West. More than thirty mills were represented, and entered the agreement, but half a dozen declined to take any part in the new agreement. The selling pool seems to have worked badly from the start, for besides the competition naturally met with the half-dozen mills whose managers stayed out of the pool had an output sufficient to render futile every effort to manipulate prices. As a matter of fact, the output of the combine concerns expected to reap a rich harvest and they realized their anticipations for at least a part of the time.

But last week the Vancouver and other coast mills notified their agents in the North West of their intention to make a reduction that seems to have put a crimp in the affairs of the people upcountry. The announcement was that shiplap and other rough dimension lumber would be delivered at points in the North West at from $17 to $18 per thousand feet, a straight cut of from $2 to $3 per thousand. If the mountain mills on the other hand make a further reduction to $16 per thousand, it is claimed that they will have to do business at a loss.

The coast mills have made an offset by increasing the prices of dressed lumber. The price has been put up $1 per thousand on the higher grades of the manufacture of which the coast mills practically have a monopoly. As the matter stands at present the coast mills have rather the better of the fight. By the plan adopted, the British Columbia manufacturers' association expects to put a stop to the policy of price-cutting of the mountain mills.

A LACROSSE VICTORY

WON SECOND GAME FROM LETHBRIDGE

The Score Four to Three at Raymond—
Good Attendance at Raymond
Fair—Team Plays in Calgary Saturday.

Raymond, Aug. 17.—The second game of lacrosse between Edmonton and Lethbridge, was played at Raymond and was won by Edmonton by a score of four to three. The game was very rough and the Edmonton boys were badly cut up, but they stuck to their work, and despite the slashing of their opponents, managed to win. The game was a fast one, there was something doing every minute.

In the first quarter Lethbridge scored one goal, giving them the lead. In the second quarter Edmonton scored two and Lethbridge one, making the teams even at half time. In the third quarter Lethbridge made another goal, and the teams faced up for the last quarter with Lethbridge leading by one goal and feeling that victory was theirs. The Edmonton boys went in to win though and despite the defence of their opponents scored two goals and won the game.

There was a large crowd in attendance at the Raymond fair which passed off very successfully.

The lacrosse team will play in Calgary tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., with the Calgary team.

THE NEWS IN BRIEF

The managers of every theatre in Brooklyn, except one, appeared before the health board to protest against the order issued by health commissioner Parling that theatres remain closed until certain precautions against fires had been taken. Orders were issued to that effect to the managers instructing them to equip their houses with automatic sprinklers over the stage. Later when it was ascertained that several of them were preparing to open, and that none of them had complied with the order notices were posted on the theatre doors that the orders must be complied with before opening.

While President Manuel Quintana, of the Argentine Republic, was driving toward his official residence at Buenos Ayres, a man carrying a revolver ran toward his carriage. He was seized before he was able to fire and was locked up.

Reports have been received from the island of Hawaii that smoke is issuing from the crater named Mokuawewe, one of the outlets on the slope of Mauna Loa, from which the last flow of the mountain came about two years ago.

J. W. Davidson, acting U. S. consulting engineer at Shanghai, who arrived from the Orient, says the cause of the boycott is the discount treatment which the sons of influential Chinese officials have received at the hands of the immigration officials on landing at San Francisco.

The Sultan of Morocco has declined to accede to the demands of the French minister for the payment of an indemnity and the release of the chief of the Algerian settlement, who was arrested in consequence of local troubles. The sultan claims jurisdiction over all Algerian settlements in Morocco. The incident may lead to important developments.

The Daily Mail's despatch with regard to the famine conditions in Andalusia, Spain, states that the Spanish government has failed to give relief, and as the money grants are inadequate to meet the necessities the resources are completely exhausted. Hunger riots are a daily occurrence and are becoming more serious. Reinforcements of the civil guard are wanted in every town and village. Not a drop of rain has fallen in that district since March, and crops will be ruined unless rain falls very soon. It is feared that the peasantry will take the law into their own hands, and even now signs of open revolt are plentiful.

Take notice that the Council of the City of Edmonton intend to pass a By-law for the closing of that part of the highway in the City of Edmonton known as First Street, being 20 feet in width lying on the Hudson's Bay Reserve along the west side of the centre line of said First Street, and running from the south side of College avenue to the north side of the highway known as Ross Grade and for the selling the said portion of said First Street to the Edmonton Incline Railway Company, Limited.

And take notice that the Council intend to pass such By-law after at least two weeks notice of the council's said intention has been served upon persons registered or assessed as owners of the lands abutting upon this said portion of said First Street, and after this notice has been published in at least two weekly issues of the Edmonton Bulletin.

And take notice that any person who claims that his land will be injuriously affected by the passing of such By-law and who petitions to be heard will be afforded an opportunity to be heard by himself or his agent in relation to the proposed By-law.

The Ambassadors

H. F. Gadsby, of the Toronto Star gives the following pen picture of the peace plenipotentiaries now at Portsmouth:

The envoys and their suites are now open to inspection, and as first impressions are likely to be most correct, some of them may be set down here.

Of the four leading figures M. Witte is probably the most interesting symbolizing, as he does, to the public mind, that vast and mysterious Russia from which he comes. The senior envoy of the Czar is indeed, highly typical of the soil from which he springs. His figure is striking, his gait shambling. Looking at him at once recalls Kipling's poem of Adam Zai, the bear that walks like a man. His big loose-jointed body, taller by a head than any of his associates—and the Russians are a tall race—seems to express the uncouth might of an empire which does not derive all the benefit of its tremendous strength through lack of harmony among its parts. Russia hesitates now between Eastern despotism and Western enlightenment. It is the awkward stage between youth and manhood—Russia's history only dates from Peter the Great. As an autoeconomy it is overgrown. It is merely a question of time when it will adopt representative institutions, and then the awkwardness will disappear and this great country, animated with that spirit of citizenship which lends zeal to action and force to inspiration, will be as potent a civilization as Great Britain or the United States. When that consummation arrives, no yellow nation will be able to triumph over Russia. Japan understands this so well that her envoys will demand a peace enduring enough to place her in a secure position before Russia finds her feet again.

M. Witte's ungainly frame says all these things and more. He shadows forth the physical geography of his country in his craggy outlines. Although he had a Dutch father he, no doubt, takes his features from his Russian mother. He is a Russian at the Russians, having that east of countenance which suggests the original blend between Tartar and Norman. At first glance one sets him down as an ugly man. At the second one is attracted by the great strength and earnestness of his face. Evidently this is a man with ideals, and those ideals are by him translated into purposes which he follows with grim determination.

He is a lover of peace with honor because he feels that Russia needs peace to work out the great destiny he has in mind for her. It has been insinuated that M. Witte's published forebodings with regard to the outcome of the peace conference indicate that he is not going to throw the game, the theory being that a few more disasters in Manchuria would naturally assist the reform movement in Russia of which he is the leader. One look at M. Witte dispels any such idea as that. It is the quality of strong natures like his to be faithful. He will carry out the mandate of his royal master whatever it is, to the letter, scornful to double play with a sovereign who has distinguished him by his favor. Although M. Witte is a self-made man, he is now one of the classes, which means that the goal of his ambition is a constitutional monarchy for Russia, not a republic or a commune. Mr. Witte's career, by the way, is an example of Russian possibilities. So far as Europe is concerned, Russia has been better since the time of Peter the Great, the land of opportunity for soldiers of fortune with brains in their hands. The rapid rise of men like Witte from the humbled walks of life goes to show that democracy is not the only form of government that gives genius a chance.

That M. Witte is as honest as he is loyal there can be no doubt. It is true that he has failed a great deal for a diplomat, and that each time that he has opened his mouth he has cut Casandras Casandras. But Witte is not a diplomat, he is a force. If he croaks it is for advertising purposes with the object of obtaining peace at a reasonable price. As a matter of fact, Witte has been too long the leader of popular movements to be a verbal strategist. In this sphere enthusiasm is needed, energy amounting to bluntness, and downrightness enough to give confidence to a sex of over-crow. When a man is accustomed to be a living force it comes hard to deal in the studied ambiguity of safe official statement.

It is easy to see through M. Witte's stammering attempts at fluency. He means well, but he is not used to a game in which language plays at hide-and-seek with ulterior motives. The Czar who understands M. Witte's shortcomings as well as his special qualifications for this mission, has placed at his elbow Baron Rosen, who is skilled in the ways of embassies, Maartius, a world-famous authority on constitutional law, and a staff of attaches, who are accustomed to the chancelleries of Europe. Witte will not lack counsel. Russia takes advantage of his celerity as a lover of freedom and an advocate of peace, also of his talent as a negotiator, who can grasp proposals and sound intentions, also of his general reputation as a statesman of character, but she has taken care to steady him down with an advisory board that can handle diplomacy with as much subtlety as the Japanese. For instance, it is not likely that Witte will be allowed to read the speech he has prepared on the causes of the war. His own friends will dissuade him from that, reminding him, no doubt, that this is not a propaganda, but a conference, in which it is necessary to get down to brass tacks from the start.

Mr. Witte's colleague, Baron Rosen is the more accomplished diplomat of the two. Unlike Witte, he has said nothing which would indicate that he approaches the conference with cold feet. Probably he laughs at Witte's transparent efforts to hoodwink the public, and may have even advised him not to turn any of the cards face up before the game begins. But Witte has the fault of his qualities—he is impulsive, and he may have insisted on having his own way. Like the senior envoy, Baron Rosen has a reputation as a peacemaker. He conducted the ante-bellum negotiations with Russia, and is well known to have opposed a war with Japan. His record should help to persuade Japan that Russia really desires peace, if she can get it without sacrificing too much.

Baron Rosen is the man of the world, smiling, polished, affable, concealing fixity of purpose under an easy charm of manner. He is a courtier of large experience, urbane, cosmopolitan. He belongs to that school of politicians which has made Russia the dread of England in the East. It is not difficult to see the role he will play in the conference. While Witte will play the game above board, Rosen will stack the pack. Witte will do the protesting and the browbeating, Rosen will do the dissembling. Witte will blurt out his wishes; Rosen will put in the mitigating objective. Witte is the man, serious, resolute. Rosen is his mask, more engaging to look at and to speak through, but just as bent on achieving the ends Russia has in view.

The opinion grows that Baron Komura is a sick man, or else that he leads an inner mental life which wastes his body. He is the only member of the Japanese delegation who does not look plump and well-fed. His sunken cheeks and his general air of languor bespeak the misanthrope or the chronic invalid. When a smile visits his face which is but seldom, it is so bitter that it must leave a bad taste in his mouth. Komura was trained at Harvard. Can it be that with the other benefits of Western civilization he took away that weakness of life that hopeless, dreamy ennui which is the bane of great personages the world over? At any rate Komura is wrapped in melancholy. His features are ascetic, his frame is emaciated, as if through fasting. The only sign of animation is the leaping fire in his eyes. Komura has an eager soul—it burns him night and day. His glance tells of forces in his nature that could not otherwise be expected. If this man had turned his attention to religion he would have been a Savonarola or a Loyola or a Peter the Hermit. As it was statesmanship claimed him—politics being a profession for noblemen in Japan—and he became a flaming patriot, whose acute intelligence the Mikado esteems at its full worth.

Like Witte, the senior Japanese envoy has his foil in his colleague Takahira. Komura has a large head, something the shape of an equilateral triangle, the apex at the chin. Takahira is bullet-headed and jolly. He does the smiling for himself and partner. The suave non-chalance of his manner is just the proper corrective for Komura's habitual taciturnity. One can almost imagine Takahira telling Komura a funny story, or slapping that weary, narrow-shouldered little Atlas on the back and telling him to cheer up. Tan Takahira with his off-hand way and facile good-fellowship, nor a better body check to Baron could have been selected. Komura, like Witte, has a council of expert advisers, one of whom is an Englishman, Mr. Henry Denison, whose official position is that of legal adviser to the Japanese Department of foreign affairs. His knowledge will be an offset to that of Professor Martens of the Russians side.

With Witte and Komura at the head the conference is not likely to indulge in shilly-shallying. Both of them are very serious, straightforward persons and the diplomatic game of cross purposes, I fancy, will be allowed to go no farther than is necessary for the envoys to feel each other's powers and intentions. No doubt Japan will insist on knowing whether the Russians have full powers to conclude a treaty. That being settled, the terms of peace will be discussed until Japanese irreducible minimum is disclosed. Like a York street clothes-seller, Japan will begin by asking too much and will come down gradually until the limit or fair profit is reached.

What this limit is nobody knows but newspaper correspondents who are paying hundreds of dollars a day to cable guesses across the ocean, basing their calculations on the good old business method of splitting the difference.

WESTERN NEWS NOTES

—Regina, Aug. 15.—The Hon. F. W. G. Haultain has officially announced his intention to stand for re-election in Saskatchewan. He has represented an Alberta constituency heretofore.

—Lethbridge News: The annual dipping of cattle in Southern Alberta ranges to assist in preventing an outbreak of mange and other diseases commences this week, the government compelling ranchers to carry on the work between August 15 and October 15.

—Bathurst Herald: Work is progressing rapidly with the construction of the concrete piers for the Bathurst River bridge, the contractor, Mr. Foley, of Ottawa, having nearly fifty men at work. The abutment at the south end is completed and the mould has been removed. The south pier is about half built and the piles for the foundation of the north pier are being driven, the excavation inside the cofferdam having been completed.

—Free Press: Archdeacon Fortin has returned from the Synod at Calgary. He reports that the most serious question that came up was that of religious instruction in schools. A committee was appointed from the upper and one from the lower house to act conjointly with the new legislatures as soon as they shall convene to see if something can be done to secure religious instruction in non-sectarian schools. As it stands now the autonomy bills provide for instruction in the separate schools, but as the non-sectarians are not provided for this must depend on the spirit of the trustees. Any religious instruction asked for is non-sectarian in character.

—Vancouver Province: A gruesome tragedy occurred early on Sunday morning in Vancouver's Chinatown. As a result two men are dead and a third lies in the hospital with a badly wounded face. Fung Sing, Chinese tailor at No. 29 Canton Alley, shot his partner, Fung Ging, killing him instantly. Then Sing turned his revolver upon himself, and he too, probably died immediately. Fung Hing, a son of the murdered man, severely wounded with a bullet in his lower jaw, had a marvelous escape. He occupies a cot at the city hospital, and the surgeons say he will recover. According to the evidence collected by Detective Sergeant Mulhern and his assistants, the crime was deliberately planned and carried out. The murderer, who had previously uttered threats, undertook to wipe out the Fung family in revenge for fancied injuries. After leaving Hing for dead, the half-crazed Celestial fired four ineffectual shots through the older Chinaman's closed bedroom door, and then demolishing the panels with a hatchet, brought the revolver again into play against the defenceless object of his wrath. Fourteen Chinamen who slept in the building the night of the tragedy, were taken into custody on the arrival of the police, and locked up at the police station. When subsequent investigation showed that they had no connection with the bloody affair, the prisoners were given their liberty late yesterday afternoon.

—Lethbridge, N.W.T., Aug. 15—A car of trucks red winter wheat killed to Calgary for seedling purposes by the Nor West Trading Co. is standing on the Lethbridge railway tracks near the Sunny Southern Alberta lands. The car was loaded on August 12.

—There is a very dangerous hole in the end of the bridge across the river. A horse will fall in it one of these days and the damage will be the loss of a valuable animal. A large enough boy to drop through the hole should see that it is repaired.

—Barley cutting is in full swing at Stony Plains and fields of fall wheat have also been cut. The oats are coming in fast and by Monday harvest will be on in right earnest. The crop is an excellent one and promises an excellent yield. Mr. John A. McPherson has wheat, oats and barley ripe.

—T. G. Pearce of Agricola, brought a sheaf of oats to the Bulletin office yesterday which measure 6 feet in height, and are from the tenth crop grown on the land without fertilizer of any kind, thus showing the staying qualities of Alberta soil. The heads are long and heavy and the yield should be splendid.

—The following Roman Catholic clergymen returned from St. Albert this morning and left for their homes. Father Walrangs, of Wetaskiwin; Father Livers, of Blood Reserve; Father Dauphin, of Hobbema Reserve; Father Toisin, of Innisfail; Father Vautgen, of Lethbridge; Father Lemarchand, of Calgary; Father Shultz, of Spring Lake; and Father Feltman, of Banff.

—Among those who have already accepted the invitations and signified their intention of being present at the inaugural celebration on September 1 are, the Governor-General and Lady Grey, Hon. G. H. Bulyea, Regina; D. W. Role, M.P., Winnipeg; J. H. Lamont, M.P., Prince Albert; J. E. Cyr, M.P., St. Boniface; T. A. Burrows, M.P., Winnipeg; Walter Scott, M.P., Regina; S. J. Jackson, M.P., Stonewall; P. Talbot, M.P., Lacombe; Dr. L. G. De Veber, M.L.A., Lethbridge; Mayor Emerson, of Calgary and the mayors of Wetaskiwin and Lacombe. A number of these gentlemen are bringing their wives or other members of their families. This is only a fraction of those who will yet accept the city's invitation.

—The attempt to swim the largest herd of black Galloways in the world at Medicine Hat, recently, was a partial failure. The "black host" of 700 was brought from Star Ranch to the north bank of the Saskatchewan at 1 o'clock but the cowboys could not get them to tackle the water. About 100 horses were started off down the bank and entering the water made at once for the opposite bank. Some of the cattle followed a little way, but the efforts of about fifteen riders failed to get them in. The horses were afterwards put in and swim back again. The attempt was repeated the next day, and a number of steers and dry stock taken across but the cows and calves had to be taken to the railway and shipped.

BASEBALL

The Edmonton junior base ball team defeated the Strathconas last night on the ball grounds here in a five innings game by a score of 4 to 3.

The game was pretty even in the first innings, but in the second the Edmonton boys ran away with the visitors and scored seven runs. The Strathconas fielders couldn't find anything and the ball travelled past every player it went near.

The same performance was repeated in the fourth innings when the home team scored six runs. The juniors play very fair ball and with some practice will give a good account of themselves in the future. The line up was as follows:—
Edmonton: Spies, 1b; Kennedy, 2b; Johnson, 3b; Clark, 4b; Duggan, 5b; Toll, 6b; Wilson, 7b; Kent, 8b; Great, 9b; Dobson, 10b; Bell, 11b; Sanford, 12b.
